

DRY SUIT DIVER WITH SCUBA ZONE

Dry suit diving is an essential part of Scuba Diving in any cold environment that is uncomfortable to dive in with a wet suit - i.e. the UK during the winter months!

The purpose of the PADI Dry Suit Diver speciality course is to familiarise divers with the skills, knowledge, planning, organisation, procedures, techniques, problems, hazards and enjoyment of diving with a dry suit.

Any PADI Open Water diver (or equivalent) over 12 years old may participate in the course. The first Open water dive of this speciality can be counted towards the Elective Dry Suit Dive in the PADI Adventures in Diving (Advanced) program.

The course is conducted over two days, a Monday evening orientation dive at our Central London pool if you haven't used a dry suit before prior to one Saturday or one Sunday at an open water site. A short self-study package of a video and workbook means no lectures or exams.
